2. Ibid. For purposes of this report, we define “NOAH” private market housing that is affordable to 60% of Area Median Income, including likely utility costs, depending on number of bedrooms and building type. HousingLink follows widely-accepted basic practices for analyzing housing affordability, which involve comparing rents to area median incomes provided every year by HUD. It is important to remember that an overall standard of “affordability” is a broad brush and individual families looking for housing can only evaluate the notion of “affordable” relative to their own circumstances. ¹ AMI (Area Median Income) is $87,000 for an individual and $124,200 for a family of four in the Twin Cities Metro (HUD, 2023). HousingLink follows widely-accepted basic practices for analyzing housing affordability, which involve comparing rents to area median incomes provided every year by HUD. It is important to remember that an overall standard of “affordability” is a broad brush and individual families looking for housing can only evaluate the notion of “affordable” relative to their own circumstances. Housing Choice Vouchers forfeited in Q2 2023¹
This figure refers to vouchers families were unable to place in service. Traditionally, this has usually resulted from rent exceeding the Public Housing Authority’s ability to adequately subsidize the voucher holder’s portion of, or a property manager’s unwillingness to participate in, the Section 8 Housing Choice Voucher program.

Another scenario resulting in forfeiture can involve Public Housing residents who ultimately make a choice to stay in their current unit. This is not uncommon, as the individuals may find that living with a voucher is more costly than living in a public housing unit.

Finally, some simply do not search for a unit because they have existing housing, they are not ready or willing to leave, or have circumstances otherwise preventing a housing search.

Tier 3 rentals are those which require excessive city services, are poorly maintained or managed, and may be at a higher risk for fire damage.

2. Tier 3 rentals are typically on the most frequent inspection cycle (one-year); however, seemingly elevated levels of Tier 3 rentals in recent quarters are largely due to comparisons versus pandemic-era quarters, where there was more limited capacity for inspection.

This data does not include any publicly-owned buildings or commercial conversion. For more information on what is included see here. Additionally, while some multifamily construction may contain units built for sale (e.g. condominiums), recent analysis by the Urban Institute recently indicated those units only account for 5.4% of all permitted multifamily units, nationwide (The Housing Market Needs More Condos. Why Are So Few Being Built?; Neal, Goodman; June 2022).
